Inscriptions taken from the Churchyard, Monuments, Floors and Windows of All Saints' and St. Lawrence's Churches.

Introduction.

Graveyard inscriptions and dedications have been derived from original hand written documents compiled by E. A. Barnard F. S. A. from the Gravestones in the churchyard present in 1899. Some later descriptions have been added by other contributors. The documents are currently held in All Saints' Church office

The inscriptions on the monuments and windows in All Saints' Church were compiled by Mr. J. W. R. Turner with descriptions taken from the leaflet written by Revd. Mark Powell. Those in St. Lawrence Church, were compiled by Mr. K. G. Perkins. Alphabetic lists of dedications derived from them are included.

The lists of Abbots and Vicars are from plates in the two churches.

In the book written by George May in 1845 it was noted that the outside of All Saints' Church suffered badly due to soil being packed up to the window sills and hence allowing moisture to percolate the walls of the church. This fact together with the so many burials within the Church caused him to write "earth and walls have at length become so saturated with putrefaction, that, turn where we may, the air we breathe is cadaverous.."

He listed the inscriptions (149 of them) which were at that time readable on the floor of the Church and which are reproduced in this booklet At the time of the massive restoration of the Church and the addition of many of today's stained glass windows by Frederick Preedy in 1873-6 the floor was excavated and a concrete surface added effectively removing all the inscriptions.

This tribute of affection is here placed
By AGNES his afflicted widow.

Far may we search before we find
A heart like Beaufby's just and kind
But not around his honour'd Urn
Shall friends alone or kindred mourn:
The many eyes his love has dried.
Now pour for him the bitter tide
And yield the grateful tribute due.
For benefits, the World ne'er knew.
